Cycle parking
Wisbech has lots of cycle parking facilities, located at various points across the town and these can be seen as marked on the map. Sadly, cycle theft is common. Always lock your bike to a fixed object, with a good lock, even for the briefest of stops.

Wisbech, known as "The Capital of the Fens", is a thriving market town with great historical importance and character. It is located 25 miles to the north-east of Peterborough and is a parish in the district of Fenland in Cambridgeshire.

Wisbech is an inland port with the tidal River Nene running through its centre and it has, within close proximity of the town, county boundaries with both Norfolk and Lincolnshire.

Wisbech has much to offer visitors, from its Georgian architecture, which can be seen around The Crescent and along the North and South Brink, to its historic castle, church, and museum. Wisbech's rich history dates back to Roman times and it boasts connections to Hereward the Wake, the luckless King John, slavery abolitionist Thomas Clarkson, and, as well as, in more recent years, Octavia Hill, pioneer of social housing and founder of the National Trust (her birthplace, on the South Brink, is open to visitors).

Landowners in Wisbech grew wealthy when the Fens were drained for the first time during the 1820's. They built rows of houses along the banks of the River Nene facing each other across the water - North Brink and South Brink.

Tourist attractions

Church of St Peter and St Paul (F5 and inset)

Cycle parking available opposite.

St Peter and St Paul is set in the heart of Wisbech. People have worshipped here since the 12th Century. A Norman stone castle was built to replace the original wooden building and its unique double nave under one roof and clerestory windows fill the church with light and reflect the wealth and power of the medieval guilds who built it.

On 17th July 1951, the church became the first Grade I Listed building in Wisbech. The church boasts beautiful gardens which are a feast for the eye across the seasons.

St Peter & St Paul's Church Gardens

Clarkson Memorial (F5 and inset)

This Gothic Tower, built in 1881 by Sir George Gilbert Scott, stands tall in the centre of town and commemorates the remarkable life of Thomas Clarkson (1760 - 1846) who dedicated his whole life to the anti-slavery cause.

Elgodd's Brewery, Gardens and Visitor Centre (D6)

Elgodd's is a traditional family-run brewery. Founded in 1795, it was one of the first Georgian breweries outside of London - if you are looking for an example of how traditional English beer is made, then a visit here is a must!

Elgodd's offer a variety of ales to suit all tastes and the visitor centre and gardens are open on selected dates throughout the year - check the website for opening times.

Octavia Hill Birthplace (E5 and inset)

The house celebrates the life of a most extraordinary woman. Born in Wisbech in 1838, Octavia Hill dedicated her life to helping London's poorest people by pioneering the social housing system. She used her love of the life enhancing virtues of "pure earth, clean air and blue sky" to campaign, save green spaces and open landscapes.

Wisbech Park (F4 and inset)

Over 11 acres of large open green fields and mature woodland areas to enjoy. Recently, the park has welcomed a new "SplashPad" wet play area for youngsters to enjoy too. The park is home to the Richard Young Memorial Column (Grade II listed, 1872) and Wisbech Bandstand (Grade II listed, 1908) which hosts a programme of outdoor summer concerts as well as other regular events, including Park Run.

Wisbech General Cemetery

Peckover House and Gardens (E5 and inset)

Cycle parking available on the south west corner of Town Bridge.

This elegant Georgian townhouse complete with wonderful walled garden is a hidden gem in the town. Built in the late 1700's by Jonathan Peckover, whose family lived in the house for over 150 years, the house was handed over to the National Trust in 1948 and is now open for visitors to enjoy and learn about its rich history and outstanding gardens, including an orangery, rose garden, croquet lawn and summer houses.

Peckover House

The house is open for pre-booked tours only and the gardens open freely to visitors during opening hours, check website for opening times. Tea room, second-hand bookshop and plant sales are also open during selected times.

Wisbech and Fenland Museum (F5 and inset)

Cycle parking available in The Square.

The museum opened in 1847 and continues to collect, care for and interpret the natural and cultural heritage of Wisbech and the surrounding Fens. The museum houses collections of natural sciences and local flora and fauna plus a substantial archive including local parish registers, local government records and maps etc. In 1868, the museum was bequeathed the original manuscript of Charles Dickens' Great Expectations and, more recently, it has become home to a collection showcasing 100 years of Wisbech Town Football Club.

Wisbech Castle (F5 and inset)

Cycle parking available in The Square.

The Castle is a Grade II listed Regency villa on the site of a former Norman villa, a Bishop's Palace and a mansion built for Cromwell's Secretary of State, John Thurloe. After a period of decline, the Castle was reborn and is today managed by Wisbech Town Council and local volunteers who open it for special events and for private hires including wedding ceremonies. Public visits are available by appointment only, check website for details. The gardens and a cafe are also open on selected days throughout the year and details can also be found on the website.

Cycling

Why walk or cycle?

- The Fens naturally lend themselves to walking and cycling much more easily and to the less-abled as they are relatively flat and provide easy terrain for all abilities.
Walking and cycling are both great for your health and can often be quicker than other modes of transport, especially around town.
Parking your cycle is free and there is ample space to park up whenever you feel like it!
The vast open Fenland landscapes and big skies are easily enjoyed when walking or cycling and, as well as the many formal routes which are set out, due to its easy navigation, Wisbech and the surrounding villages can also provide walkers and cyclists with easily enjoyable "off-route" trails.

Know your signs

No Entry signs always apply to cyclists too ...

...unless there is an exception shown underneath, or ...

... you can bypass No Entry signs if there is a gap alongside with this route for cyclists sign.

No cycling Typically used on a footpath away from a road. You can still wheel your bike.

No motor vehicles A cycle is not a motor vehicle. Cyclists are allowed to pass these signs where motorists cannot.

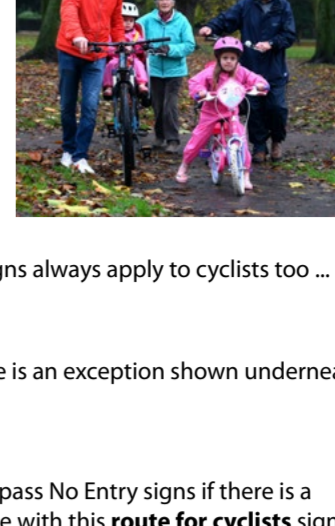

Shared route for cyclists and pedestrians together The only time cyclists are allowed to ride on a pavement alongside a road is where you see this sign...

... or this one indicating a segregated route, where you must keep to the side designated for cyclists.

National Cycle Network Routes

The National Cycle Network is made up of more than 12,000 miles of traffic-free walking and cycling paths, quiet lanes and on-road cycling routes that are often a great way to get to work, school, the shops or just for exercise and fun.

The Network is available to everyone and passes within a mile of over 55% of the population. Founded by Sustrans, the sustainable transport charity, the network itself only owns around 2% of the network; the rest is owned by private landowners and is cared for by local volunteers and Sustrans staff who help to maintain, develop, and create new and existing routes.

Wisbech is easily accessible from the National Cycle Network's Route 1 which weaves its way from Dover to the Highlands of Scotland) and Route 63 which weaves its way to Wisbech from Burton-on-Trent.

Routes 11, 12 and 51 also pass-through Cambridgeshire. For more details visit www.sustrans.org.uk

Cycle training

The County Council recommends Bikeability, a cycle training scheme (for all ages) designed to increase confidence and cycling skills, as well as improving your health! Check the website for details: www.bikeability.org.uk

Wisbech Wheelers
